

```
#write and run the small statement - "Hello! My name is -- and my hobby is -- "
print("Hello My name is Shristi --- and my hobby is playing badminton.")
```

Hello My name is Shristi --- and my hobby is playing badminton.

```
#print the comments.
print("Hello , Python")
```

Hello , Python

```
#Display integer, float, String, Boolean.
integer_value = 20
float_value = 5.4
String_value = "Namrta"
Boolean_value = False

print("Integer: ", integer_value)
print("Float: ", float_value)
print("String: ", String_value)
print("Boolean: ", Boolean_value)
```

Integer: 20
Float: 5.4
String: Namrta
Boolean: False

```
#Convert float to integer, string to integer, boolean to integer.
float_value = 2.5
integer_value = int(float_value)
print("float to Integer: ", integer_value)

string_value = 3
integer_value = int(string_value)
print("String to Integer: ", integer_value)

Boolean_value = False
integer_value = int(Boolean_value)
print("Boolean to Integer: ", integer_value)
```

float to Integer: 2
String to Integer: 2
Boolean to Integer: 0

```
Provide the simple operations performed in the calculator (addition, subtraction, multiplacation, divison).
a = 20;
b = 5;
print("Addition: ", a + b)
```

```
print("Subtraction: ", a - b)
print("Multiplication: ", a * b)
print("Divison: ", a / b)
```

```
Addition: 25
Subtraction: 15
Multiplication: 100
Divison: 4.0
```

```
my_list = []
```

```
#Write an expression that calculates how many hours there are in 160 minutes
minutes = 160;
hours = minutes / 60;
print("Hours in 160 minutes: ", hours)
```

```
Hours in 160 minutes: 2.6666666666666665
```